SharpSpring vs. Pardot

A Research Guide for Marketing Agencies

SharpSpring

SharpSpring's focus is marketing agencies. Nearly 2,000 agencies use SharpSpring to grow their business and generate revenue by providing the platform and associated services to clients. It's a complete platform that measures end-to-end ROI.

Pardot

Pardot launched in 2007, providing a full suite of tools that helps marketers engage leads and close more deals. It requires the use of the Salesforce CRM, which is priced separately. Pardot's price point is on the high end of the spectrum, and an annual contract is required.

SharpSpring

What one SharpSpring partner says:

"SharpSpring provides my clients and I with several advantages over its competition, such as Pardot or Marketo. You can't beat SharpSpring's licensing value. Each license comes with unlimited users – this alone beats out the competition. SharpSpring also has an awesome integrated CRM, so you don't have to go out and buy separate software licenses for the features you need. SharpSpring is a complete marketing automation system with true behavioral marketing capabilities."
